NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART
INFORMATION OFFICE
INTERNSHIPS
1984-1985

VOLUNTEER INTERNSHIPS are available in the Gallery's Information Office, the office responsible for publicity and promotion of the National Gallery of Art, its exhibitions and events.

Interns participate in all activities of the office, including research and writing, film and videotape projects, press conferences and other special events.

Introductory tours, programs, lectures and films present a broad overview of the Gallery, its staff and many activities.

Interns are on a volunteer basis only, and must receive academic credit through their individual departments.

Preference is given to students in the following fields: art history, journalism, communications, and marketing.
