Ice Rink in National Gallery of Art Sculpture Garden Opens November 15 with Free Hot Chocolate on Opening Weekend; Wide Range of Skating Classes Available for All Ages and Interests

National Gallery of Art Sculpture Garden Ice Rink

The 2013–2014 ice-skating season at the National Gallery of Art Sculpture Garden will begin on November 15, 2013, and continue through March 16, 2014, weather permitting. Skating classes will be offered for different ages and abilities. Located on the National Mall between 7th and 9th Streets along Constitution Avenue NW, the ice rink is a favorite Washington destination, attracting thousands of visitors to skate in the nation's capital. The rink is managed by Guest Services, Inc.

The experience of skating in the Sculpture Garden, surrounded by the grand architecture of national museums and monuments, is enhanced by views of splendid large-scale sculptures by modern and contemporary artists including Louise Bourgeois, Alexander Calder, Roy Lichtenstein, Roxy Paine, Tony Smith, and others from the Gallery's renowned collection. This winter, visitors can enjoy a new sculpture recently installed in the Sculpture Garden: Robert Indiana's AMOR (conceived 1998, executed 2006). A play on Indiana's famous LOVE sculpture, AMOR is the artist's first sculpture to enter the Gallery's collection, significantly advancing the holdings of monumental modern sculpture. It was given to the Gallery in May 2012 by Simon and Gillian Salama-Caro in memory of Ruth Klausner.

To celebrate the opening, visitors who purchase time on the ice on November 16 and 17 will receive a coupon for a complimentary cup of hot chocolate from the Pavilion Café on those dates.

Snowplow Sam and Mom/Dad and Me: Classes introduce children as young as three to skating while holding a parent's hand.

Children's Classes: Classes for children with more skating experience who no longer need the assistance of an adult, are comfortable on the ice, and are ready to learn to skate backward and to glide on one foot.

Adult Basic Group Lessons: Teens and adults have many opportunities to hone their skating skills with Adult Basic group lessons, organized according to four levels of experience.

Sculpturise and Ice Theater: For skaters inspired by the monuments and sculptures surrounding the rink, the Sculpturise exercise class or Ice Theater artistry performance class provide a wonderful creative outlet.

Hockey: Hockey skating classes for children and adults.

Skaters seeking one-on-one attention may make an appointment for a private lesson. Special group rates are also available for parties of 10 or more.

Registration for group classes will be held on November 13, 2013, 2:30–4:00 p.m.; December 24, 2013, noon–1:00 p.m.; and January 2, 2014, 5:30–6:00 p.m., at the entrance of the Pavilion Café. To register in advance or arrange for a private lesson, please e-mail ngaicerink@guestservices.com.

Sculpture Garden and Ice Rink

The skating surface, which measures approximately 135 feet long and 90 feet wide, can accommodate more than 200 skaters at a time. A state-of-the-art music system delights skaters, diners, and spectators without distracting other visitors to the Sculpture Garden. At night, lights encircling the rink illuminate the ice, contributing to the festive atmosphere and the skating experience. Sixteen banners that surround the ice-skating rink represent a cross-section of spectacular portraits from the Gallery's collection, on display in the East and West Buildings. Designed to offer year-round enjoyment to the public in one of the preeminent locations on the National Mall, the 6.1-acre National Gallery of Art Sculpture Garden opened on May 23, 1999. The richly landscaped setting provides a distinctive backdrop for works of post-World War II sculpture by internationally famous artists. Visitors may enjoy spacious seating and walking areas amid the native American canopy and flowering trees, shrubs, ground covers, and perennials. In the summer, the majestic fountain at the center of the garden gives visitors a chance to rest and reflect on the works on view, or to enjoy one of the popular Friday evening Jazz in the Garden concerts. In the winter, the fountain transforms into an ice rink.

The National Gallery of Art Sculpture Garden was given to the nation by The Morris and Gwendolyn Cafritz Foundation.

The Sculpture Garden is located on the National Mall between 7th and 9th Streets along Constitution Avenue NW, in the block adjacent to the West Building of the Gallery. There are six public entrances to the Sculpture Garden, from four corners and at two sides; and the area is accessible to visitors with disabilities. Admission is free. More information is available at www.nga.gov/exhibitions/sculptureinfo.htm.
